Potter named as superintendent of schools in Elliott

East Valley Elementary principal Thomas Potter has been named Superintendent of Elliott County Schools, replacing John Williams, who is retiring.

Potter's appointment was announced June 4 by the Elliott County Board of Education.

One of 19 who applied for the Elliott County post, Potter, 43, brings 13 years of experience as a school administrator to his new post, most of it at East Valley Elementary, and 17 years of military experience as a Kentucky National Guard officer.

Potter was picked after a previous candidate, Fulton County administrator Wayne Benningfield, had accepted, then declined the job.

Potter will assume his new post July 1.

Victim is airlifted to Huntington hospital after accident Mon.

A Morgan County man was airlifted to a Huntington hospital Monday after he wrecked his vehicle on Ky. 203 near West Liberty.

Cottle was flown from the scene to Cabell Huntington Hospital with non-life threatening injuries.

Morgan County EMS and fire and rescue units assisted at the scene. The accident remains under investigation by Trooper Jonathan Moore.

Congratulations, Maytown! You did it up right!

Native son song writer Paul Gilley remembered at first annual event

Saturday, June 9, was the first of an annual event, Paul Gilley Day, and Maytown did it up right!

Traveling west on U.S. 460 from West Liberty and turning on Ky. 1010 where the new state highway sign points to "Maytown Home Of Paul Gilley," one had to be impressed with the beauty of Morgan County. Everywhere you looked there were beautiful homes, immaculately-kept lawns, rolling pastures of new-mown hay against a backdrop of gently rolling hills. A more peaceful and serene setting could not be found for an event of any kind.

It was a day to recognize Paul Gilley, albeit over 50 years too late, for writing some of the greatest of all country songs. Frankie Spencer, Randy Maloney, J.B. Spencer, Carl and Norma Maloney, Tim Conley, Lynn Nickell and others did themselves proud for putting on the event. The idea for the event originated from a new book by Lynn Nickell, "Paul Gilley, Ghost Writer in the Sky," and an art print by Dewey Gibbs.

As you entered the area, there was the Blackwater Fire Department with flashing lights to slow the traffic, tents set up for shade, and plenty of chairs, good food from Carl and Norma's old time grocery store, one of the few left in the county. They serve a hamburger that puts Wendy's and McDonalds to shame! There were courteous people supervising parking in a mowed field near the stage, classic cars were driven to the event

New church to rise on this site

Above is all that remains of the historic West Liberty Christian Church that once occupied this corner on Prestonsburg Street. The 100-year-old church was completely destroyed by the March 2 tornado, but the church board and building committee are moving fast to build another on the site. After several weeks of consultations with an architect on plans for a new building, the board on Monday voted to move ahead with construction and hopes to have a new church completed within a year. Board chairman David Peyton said the new structure will be of "traditional" design, probably with one story and a basement, unlike the former two-story Gothic structure, and will be set back from the street to allow space for parking. Members of the building committee include Matthew Daniel, chairman; Pastor Paul Casteel, David Peyton, Danny McKenzie, Jody Franklin, and Sude Peyton. Brooks Lane, denuded of trees by the tornado, is in background.

Freezer Fresh is returning to West Liberty

Janet Franklin says new building and menu will be the same as before

By Miranda M. Cantrell
One of Morgan County's most-beloved institutions is returning to West Liberty after it was completely destroyed by the March 2 tornado.

Frederick & May Construction is currently rebuilding the venerable Freezer Fresh on the Prestonsburg Street lot where it has been located since its opening in 1958.

Freezer Fresh owner Janet

Franklin said that drive-thru diner will maintain its traditional atmosphere and menu.

"Everything will be the same as before," Franklin said. "The building will look the same, and all the food will be the same. People are so excited that the Freezer Fresh is making a comeback."

Many customers proudly note that Freezer Fresh has withstood the tests of time and competition from national fast food chain restaurants over the

Museum suffered little damage from tornado

But remains closed due to unsafe condition of neighboring buildings

Unlike its neighbors, the 100-year-old County Courthouse building and the new Justice Center, which suffered extensive damage from the March 2 tornado, the Morgan County Historical Museum and Genealogical Library, located in the former WPA-built county jail, suffered little from the twister's fury.

"We have had a lot of inquiries since the March 2 tornado about the museum," said Tony Adkins, the museum's curator.

"We had three windows broken out and a roof vent torn off by the tornado, and the building had quite a bit of dirt and small debris that entered through the windows," Adkins said, "but all the pictures, exhibits, artifacts and the library are safe and intact."

"Because of the damage to surrounding buildings and cleanup and repair work underway around them, we are not sure when the area around the building will be safe enough for us to reopen," said Adkins, "but we will have a cleanup day as soon as it's safe for our members to be in and around the building."

Adkins said the library board wishes to thank everyone for their concern and support.

A date for reopening the museum to the public will be announced later, he said.

past five decades.

“Freezer Fresh has outlived Hardee’s and hung in there with McDonald’s,” Julie Ferguson wrote on The Licking Valley Courier Facebook page. “It also survived two major ice cream competitors of Baskin Robbins and Dairy Cheer.”

Going to Freezer Fresh for a milkshake or ice cream cone remains a favorite summer pastime, especially among local youth.

“There is a saying at all the youth ballgames,” Marlene Whitely wrote on Facebook. “‘Do good and we will go to Freezer Fresh.’ All the kids always got excited to go to Freezer Fresh after the games. This year everyone has missed saying that.”

Lavodies Henry described Freezer Fresh social hotspot during her teenage years.

“It was symbolic for us 60-somethings,” Henry said. “When we first started dating, we drove around Freezer Fresh to see and be seen. It was the “in” thing to do. Most of us didn’t have much money, but we could always afford an ice cream cone.”

Former Freezer Fresh employee Ashley Roseberry – now an Ison Insurance agent – fondly remembered her tenure at the nostalgic drive-thru.

“I worked there the summer after sophomore year of high school,” Roseberry said. “I really did love the job, and was always amazed at how many double-deckers and peanut butter milkshakes we made every day. Losing the Freezer Fresh to the tornado hurt. It’s always been a part of my life.”

Freezer Fresh will continue to be a part of many more lives when it opens in the coming weeks.

“I expect we will be busy,” Janet Franklin said. “Freezer Fresh has always been here, and you can’t find food like ours anywhere else.”

Updates regarding the return of Freezer Fresh and other businesses will be documented in this newspaper as they become available.

Firefighters are honored for efforts during tornado

Judge Executive Tim Conley attended a recognition ceremony to honor a local group for helping save lives during the March tornadoes.

Bluegrass Emergency Response Team (BERT) was honored for its efforts in helping people in West Liberty. The regional response team serves Bourbon, Clark, Estill, Garrard, Fayette, Harrison, Jessamine, Madison, Nicholas, Powell and Woodford Counties.

When that tornado hit Morgan County on March 2, a call for help went out across the state.

“Once we hit downtown West Liberty it was devastating,” Chief Michael Rupard of the Jessamine County Fire Department said. “We never imagined that much damage.”

Just hours after the storms, members of the Bluegrass Emergency Response Team performed search and rescue.

“It’s brother helping brother, sister helping sister, community helping community,” Kentucky Emergency Management Director John Heltzel. “It’s the best example I could point to of how to do it right.”

Organizations from 11 counties make up the team and today some of those members were recognized. Firefighters from Nicholasville, Jessamine County and Lexington were thanked for their efforts on that day and in the days since.

“You rank the highest in Morgan County, you are the greatest,” Judge Conley told the assembled firefighters. “We didn’t have hundreds lost because you all teamed up with our Emergency Rescue team that we had on the ground.”

In the upcoming months, other separate ceremonies will be held to recognize other area firefighters and teams for their efforts during the tornadoes.

American Cancer Society’s Relay For Life slated July 27

On July 27, 2012 at 6 p.m.-12 a.m., Morgan County residents will gather and take steps toward a world with less cancer and more birthdays during Relay For Life of Morgan County. Relay For Life of Morgan County will be conducted at Morgan County Equestrian Park, West Liberty, Ky.

Relay For Life takes place overnight on an athletic track, park or other gathering area. Individuals and teams arrive at Relay For Life with the goal of keeping at least one team member on the track at all times. Prior to the event, teams organize fundraisers to raise money; fundraising may also take place at the campsites during the event. Funds raised from Relay For Life support the American Cancer Society’s mission to create a world with more birthdays by helping people stay well, by helping people get well, by finding cures and fighting back.

Since its beginning in 1985, the American Cancer Society’s Relay For Life has developed from one man running around a track for 24 hours to a full-fledged international event taking place in more than 5,000 communities and 20 countries across the globe with nearly 4 million walkers in the United States alone. Relay For Life is a community-based, volunteer-driven event fighting against cancer and the world’s largest grassroots fundraising movement.

Morgan County Long-Term Recovery Update

Our thanks go out to all the volunteer groups that were in our area this past week. Both Grace Baptist and New Hope Baptist churches worked with volunteers helping people in our community.

In West Liberty, motorists could see other large groups of volunteers working across the street from the New Mountain Rural Telephone building in addition to the volunteers in the yellow shirts that were on Prestonsburg Street between the ruins of the car wash and Frederick & May Lumber Company.

Those with yellow shirts are part of the National Relief Network and this organization plan to bring volunteer groups to Morgan County through June and most of July.

The volunteers that they will bring next week are also planning a barbecue 6-8 p.m. Thursday, June 14, at Old Mill Park. Everyone is invited. Our citizens could use this opportunity to say “thank you” to the volunteers for their compassion toward us.

We would also like to thank two of our partners in Morgan County’s recovery, Habitat for Humanity and Frontier Housing, both of which broke ground on new projects in West Liberty and at Moon.

If you are interested in joining our group or if you have needs that have not been resolved by insurance companies and FEMA, you can contact us at Morgan County Long Term Recovery Team, P. O. Box 371, West Liberty, KY 41472. Our telephone number is 606-496-8756.

DONNIE MCKENZIE FEEDING THE PUBLIC ONCE AGAIN

By Miranda M. Cantrell

The March 2 tornado left few landmarks untouched in downtown West Liberty, and McKenzie’s Pool Room at 484 Main St. was no exception.

The building where pool room owner Donnie McKenzie, 72, has served his famed fish sandwiches since 1979 was destroyed as he took cover under a pool table.

“I honestly didn’t think the tornado would hit,” McKenzie said. “But there were six of us in the building when Jon Brown pulled me under the table and covered me with his body. We just crawled on out after it was over.”

McKenzie saw in the aftermath that his business was reduced to rubble, but he soon began making plans to go back to work.

“I’ve been in this business for 53 years,” McKenzie said. “After that long, it is natural to want to come back. I didn’t want to just sit at the house when I could keep working.”

McKenzie went back to work in early April after a group of concerned citizens – including City Councilwoman Belinda Jordan and former Property Valuation Administrator Darrell Bradley – acquired a mobile unit where the local youth advocate began feeding the public on the same lot once again.

“I saw Donnie on the street a few days after the tornado,” Jordan said. “I gave him my word that I would help him get back in business. He is a pillar of our community – especially for our kids – and so many people are glad to see him frying fish again.”

That sentiment is reflected in the increased volume of customers McKenzie and his part-time employees have served since their return.

“Business has been good,” McKenzie said. “I see many different people now – more strangers than I have ever seen in my life. I love being able to see everyone.”

Despite his new facility, McKenzie’s menu has retained all the traditional favorites.

“Everything is the same,” McKenzie said. “We still have fish sandwiches, cheeseburgers, etc., just like before. We also serve breakfast items in the mornings.”

McKenzie – who hopes to eventually secure a permanent location for his business – expressed his gratitude to the public for its support of his establishment.

“I’d like to thank everyone for being so helpful to me,” McKenzie said. “It makes me feel good knowing that so many people support me. It has been great.”

McKenzie’s Pool Room business hours are 7 a.m.-4 p.m. Monday-Saturday. For more information, call 743-3832.

Old fashion memoriesGrandson recalls life at Grandma Bailey's home

By Dale Bailey

I've written several articles about my family, but one comes to mind that I haven't written about, so this writing will be about my dear grandmother, Thelma Brewer Bailey.

Raised on Stillwater, in Wolfe County, Grandma Thelma was a daughter of Millard and Mary Alice Brewer. She was a very young girl when she met my grandpa, Herbert Bailey, whom she eventually married. They met while grandpa was carrying the mail by mule back on his mail route in the Stillwater area. She was riding a horse. There were very few vehicles in this area that far back, so most everyone rode horses or mules, or traveled in horse drawn wagons wherever they went.

They married and moved to grandpa's farm at Kellacey. Their home liked one tenth of a mile being one mile off the blacktop. There wasn't a road good enough to drive a vehicle up to their house. They traveled in and out by horseback or horse drawn sled, or walked.

The home had wood floors in all rooms except the kitchen, and it had a dirt floor. Grandpa and grandma worked hard growing corn below the cliffs on their farm. Their hogs sheltered in the rock cliffs and sometimes they painted marks on their pigs to identify them by because they ran loose during the spring and summer months before they were butchered in the fall.

Grandpa cut hay and loaded it onto a horse drawn wagon with a pitch fork and stacked it in an old fashion hay stack.

Eventually they purchased a farm that joined theirs and moved out of the holler to a home closer to blacktop roads. When I was a young boy I remember going to their home. They had an old fashion potbelly coal stove that heated their home. At night you could see your breath because it was so cold. Grandma's feather beds were covered with three or four heavy, tacked quilts that kept you warm. The heavy quilts made it almost impossible to turn over!

Grandma's day started early. When I would wake up about daylight she would already be up and in the kitchen cooking breakfast. She cooked on a wood cook stove with cast iron skillet. The stove had a warming oven on top where she kept her biscuits warm until she could get everything else ready to eat.

Her breakfasts consisted of fresh country eggs, hog meat, fresh cow's milk, homemade syrup, molasses, butter, jelly and jams that she had made.

She churned her own butter, rendered lard, made banner lye soap for her laundry and other cleaning needs. She used to catch rain water so she could wash clothes on her Maytag wringer washing machine. In the evenings she devoted her time to making tacked quilts and other quilts to keep her family warm. She plucked chickens and saved the feathers to make feather beds and pillows.

When you ate supper at her table roast was often served. It wasn't a roast bought from the store. It would be baked groundhog, coon, or opossum prepared with pepper and sage, and baked sweet potatoes or potatoes and carrots. Lots of people don't understand cooking fresh, wild meat, but grandma knew exactly how it was done. Her meals were a treat.

I can remember going to her house at Christmas time when I was a boy and she would give us old fashion stick candy. Around Christmas time we would have honey, sugar, and salt cured ham that grandpa cured in his smokehouse.

I can still remember sitting on my grandparents' porch in the late summer evenings and smelling the pines, listening to the bob whites, and watching the lightning bugs, and occasionally seeing fox fire when the weather was right, as grandma reminisced about her childhood days.

Then came the time when grandma got sick. She was taken to the West Liberty Hospital that sat on the corner where Bank of the Mountains is located today. They doctored her for gallstones. Eventually she was taken to U.K., in Lexington, where they operated on her and found cancer. She returned home with six months to live. I was 12 years old when she died at age 55.

I miss the times I spent with my dear grandparents, Herbert and Thelma Brewer Bailey. They were the last of my pioneer ancestry.

Morgan ARH MEDICAL Moment

Steering Clear of Lyme Disease

The woods you hike in this summer may be lovely, dark and remote, but one of the most fearsome creatures you'll encounter, depending on where you walk, is a very small creature, a blacklegged tick.

These ticks pick up bacteria (Borrelia burgdorferi) when they bite deer or mice that are infected with Lyme disease. By clinging to your body or clothing as you walk past, they can then pass the bacterial infection to you.

Black legged ticks are so tiny that you might need a magnifying glass to see them. And you're unlikely to feel their bites since they secrete a substance that keeps you from feeling any itch or pain. Not every black legged tick has Lyme disease and not every bite by an infected tick will transmit Lyme disease to you. In most cases, the tick must remain on your body for 24 to 36 hours before the disease is transmitted.

The early signs and symptoms of Lyme disease are likely to start showing up several days or even weeks after you were bitten. The most well known sign is a red, circular rash-known as erythema migrans-that forms around the area of the bite. This is sometimes referred to as a "bull's eye rash" because a gradually enlarging clear area appears around the red, raised point in the center, site of the tick bite. The rash is not particularly painful or itchy. Like the bite itself, it may go unnoticed. Common sites are the thighs, groin, trunk and armpits.

From 20 to 30 percent of patients never get a rash but develop flu-like symptoms such as chills, fever, headache, muscle pain, stiff neck, lightheadedness and generalized itching.

Left untreated, the infection can spread to the brain, heart and joints, causing a number of more serious symptoms that are likely to come and go. These include Bell's palsy (loss of control over muscles on one or both sides of the face); severe headaches and stiff neck due to inflammation of the spinal cord; pain and swelling in the knees or other large joints; heart palpitations and rhythm abnormalities. Cindy Crager, APRN

Most of the symptoms of Lyme disease occur with other diseases as well. To establish a diagnosis, a doctor relies not only on symptoms but a history of possible exposure and blood tests to determine if the patient has antibodies.

Only black legged ticks transmit the bacteria that cause Lyme disease, and these ticks are prevalent mainly in three areas of the United States: 1) the northeastern mid-Atlantic from Virginia to Maine; 2) north central United States, primarily Wisconsin, Minnesota, a few northern counties of Illinois and some western counties of Michigan; and 3) the Pacific coast, mainly northern California. Confirmed cases nearly always can be traced back to travel in one of these three areas. Transmission is most likely during the months of May, June and July.

If you're a hiker, gardener or have an outdoor job in an area where black legged ticks are prevalent, you should try to protect yourself by walking near the center of trails and avoiding overgrown grass, brush and dead leaves. Keep your legs and arms covered, and use 20 percent concentration DEET insect repellent on your clothes and any areas of exposed skin. Permethrin, which kills ticks on contact, can also be applied to clothes, tents and camping gear.

Probably your most important preventive measures are 1) to bathe or shower soon after coming inside and 2) to check your body carefully every time you come in, even from your own yard. Ticks found and removed from your body within the first 24 hours will most likely not transmit the disease to you..

Ticks are tiny. If you find one, simply remove it with tweezers. Grasp the tick firmly as close to the skin as possible and pull the tick's body straight back with a steady motion.

Having a tick bite is not necessarily an indication that any treatment is needed, but the person should be watched closely for 30 days. Once a diagnosis is confirmed, early treatment is beneficial to head off serious long-term complications.

Treatment involves a two- to three-week course of antibiotics, and it can be curative. About 30 percent of patients, however, continue to have symptoms such as fatigue, joint pain and memory and concentration problems-sometimes severe.

In some cases, the symptoms may be lingering effects of Lyme disease complications. In other cases, doctors say, they may represent another illness such as osteoarthritis, rheumatoid arthritis, fibromyalgia or chronic fatigue syndrome. There is little evidence that these symptoms can be relieved through long-term antibiotic treatment. And there is substantial evidence of potential adverse effects from such treatment.

The Judge's Corner

By Tim Conley
Judge Executive

Hello from Judge Tim Conley, wife Tammy, staff and employees.

This article is late for Mother's Day, but Happy Belated Mother's Day to all!

I have truly been a blessed man. First of all, my wife, Tammy, has been a mother of Honor to our four children. My daughter, Brittany, is the sweetest mother to our granddaughter, Kayden, that you could ever ask for. My mother-in-law, Betty, treats me like one of her own children; and let us never forget that most wonder mother of ours, "Mommy".

Tears fall from my eyes as I think of her love, how she has fed, clothed and cared for her family. When God breathed the breath of life into Mommy as a baby, I believe He knew He had just created an Angel and He knew He needed this Angel to become a help mate to a servant that He created just a few years earlier and that was Daddy.

God knew they would someday wed and become one. He filled their hearts with so much love they couldn't give it all away in a lifetime. As I stumble through life's daily troubles, I appreciate the will, courage and love Daddy and Mommy instilled in me, my brothers and sisters.

Sometimes late at night as I sit in the quietness of my home I wish I could sit on that old porch swing up Honeymoon Hollow and listen to Daddy's voice one more time. An angel and a servant God created, He put them on this earth to share their love with everyone. Mommy, we know that you get lonely and miss Daddy, because some nights it's all I can do to keep from crying my eyes out, missing him, too. God protect our Angel Mommy, take care our our Daddy as he rests in your care and just tell him we will be there to see him when our work here is through.

To the best Mommy and Daddy in the world, Happy Belated Mother's Day and Happy Father's Day to all.

You can reach me at 450 Prestonsburg Street, West Liberty, Ky. 41472, or telephone (606) 743-3897.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

2163 Carrick Rd.
Georgetown, KY 40324
To The Courier,

I know my subscription has ran out. So I am renewing it because I miss it. I look forward to getting it each week to see what is going on in my home town. I will always remember it because I grew up there. I can remember back when the streets were dirt and some gravel, and when they poured the concrete block street from the corner at the Methodist Church to the corner of the Courthouse. The old Cole Hotel was on the upper side of the street when the concrete set and was hard. The town people had a square dance on a Saturday night. There are so many memories about the town. My mother worked for so many people there.

I was so sad when I heard that a tornado had hit it and destroyed so much. It will never be the same again to me. So much has changed there. But I will always love it and cherish it in my heart.

I worked for awhile in the printing office when Roscoe Brong owned it, when I was a teenager. I liked that work.

I'm enclosing my check for a year's renewal to the paper. I hope everything will be better in the future. Thanks so much for keeping up the news for everyone.

Sincerely,
A Courier Reader,
Ida H. (Johnson) Williams

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor,

Here is $30 for another year of my home town paper. Love it. Thanks to all of you that kept it up and going through all your problems. Thanks to Lynn Nickell for his article on how the town looks now. I felt like I was walking with him and his wife. Good luck to all. Hi to all my family in good old Morgan County.

Bank of the Mountains conf. hall now under construction

By Miranda M. Cantrell

Though contractors are currently razing several businesses in downtown West Liberty, one financial institution is constructing an additional facility amid ongoing demolition.

Bank of the Mountains Vice President Jodi Stacy said that Standafer Builders is building a conference hall near the bank's branch at the corner of Main and Court streets.

"The conference hall is where the old health department building used to be," Stacy said. "We will have meetings there, and it will also serve as a storage area for documents, etc."

Construction crews have already poured the foundation and erected walls at the site, which will also include a landscaped courtyard with public sitting areas.

"The building could be finished as early as August," Stacy said. "There have never been any green spaces in that part of town, and I think it will be nice. We wanted to stay on the same page with the 'Holy Grail' images that have appeared in the newspaper."

Bank employees also plan to bury a 100-year time capsule near the facility that will include pictures of current staff members, their accounts of the March 2 tornado and several post-disaster photographs and editions of The Licking Valley Courier.

"This is a really historic time in Morgan County," Stacy said. "We think it will be amazing for future generations to someday look back on this. Of course, there will be a marker at the site so people will remember that the capsule is there."

Stacy also noted that bank officials will repair existing downtown facilities housing the drive-thru and the original branch, which sustained severe roof and interior damage.

"The drive-thru will be repaired first," Stacy said. "It will take longer to repair the branch building. Many people have said they miss the convenience of both facilities."

Stacy said the eventual return of local banks to their downtown locations will revive the city's business district.

"The banks have always been the heart of Main Street," Stacy said. "A lot of the traffic in that area originated from the banks. It will be good to see more people taking care of business in town someday."

Randy Maloney took the stage a couple of times, along with Joanna Oldfield, Andrea Trusty, Bill Trusty, Mike Havens and Debbie Horton, The Wells Family with Raymond McClain, Bob Johnson and the Nashville Sound, Rowland Dunn, and Lawson Reunion. Gary Ball provided the sound system for the event. The sound of Bluegrass and Country Music echoed throughout the valley around Maytown until late afternoon.

The affair was covered by KET, The Ashland Daily Independent, and the Lexington Herald-Leader. KET will feature Paul Gilley Day later this summer on Dave Shuffett's popular "Kentucky Life" show. Next year in June, the anniversary of Paul Gilley's death, there will be another Paul Gilley Day in Maytown, so if you didn't go this year, be sure you go next year, because it makes for a great summer afternoon, and it is all free.

The poch of Carl and Norma's Li'l Opry House at maytown provided a shaded area for visitors attending Paul Gilley Day festivities on Saturday, June 9.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our son and brother, Gerald Dennis Clevenger, who passed away June 18, 1966.

"A PARENTS' TEARS"

From the womb with love, we remember that day the first time we held you brightened our day. Parents love memories, things no one knows. Left with these memories, our tears start to flow. The first time you walked, with each step you'd take those bonds that grew stronger, now causes heartaches, memories of school years quickly did go from baby to teenager, how fast you did grow. The joy to our heart, from your beautiful smile to tell you we love you and talk for awhile. Then we were robbed of many good years after our memories are followed by tears. Our work not yet finished, God's will to be done our thanks are to Jesus for keeping our son. One day we will join you and you'll show us around as we walk to the mountain where no tears are to be found.

Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by your mother, Alpha; brothers, Barry and Dempsey; sister, Joy and family

God bless you in heaven our precious son and brother. We dearly love you and you'll never be forgotten as long as we live. Some day we will meet you up there around God's great, white throne.

(Submitted by your mother, Alpha)

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Gerald Dennis Clevenger "MY FOREVER CHILD"

You were a precious child, a blessing from above, I've adored you from the start, and your little footprints touched my heart. A single teardrop represents the millions I have cried. My life never the same since you died. I wish you could have stayed longer with me, I'd watch you grow into all you could be, Although we are apart, you are always in my heart. I dream of a joyful time when we will be reunited once again. Thoughts of you will always be my forever child.

(Submitted by your mother, Alpha Clevenger, and family)

IN MEMORIAM

In Loving Memory Of My Brother, Bunk Stevens, who passed away June 12, 2011

On a dark, stormy night the angels called my brother we had shared his love for such a short while. He called us and said he was leaving them closed his eyes he went with a smile. In a lonesome graveyard there sleeps my dear brother whom we loved so much. One a hill far away stands a white tomb with grass covered over it seems so neglected when springtime comes sweet flowers will bloom. We'll never forget the love my brother gave us. I know his reward is a mansion in Heaven. Brother has gone to live with the angels. His soul is at rest around the white throne. I don't have my brother here on earth to see again, and we all miss him so much. He was such a dear and wonderful brother, so kind, and humble. And always the same, and never complained. You were loved by all your family and friends. God bless you in heaven where all is joy and peace and love. Some day we will meet you there on that bright, golden shore.

The fifth grade students at Morgan Central Elementary School recently enjoyed a fun filled day of surprises arranged by their teachers: Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Harper, and Mrs. Day. The biggest surprise came when Jamie Phipps brought the fire truck to hose the students down. The teachers said it was great to see the children laughing and having fun. A special thank you to Jamie Phipps of the West Liberty Fire Department.

Community Action staff teaches life skills at center

Morehead Inspiration Center, a long-term peer-led recovery program facilitated by Pathways Inc., would like to thank the ladies and gentlemen from Gateway Community Action for helping with the Life Skills portion of our program. Gateway and MIC partnered to to give three participants certain skills in money management and budgeting, parenting, and being better fathers. While here, several members of Gateway took a tour of the facility and participated in Community. They had this to say:

Justin Wells, Job Coach and Facilitator: "I feel very fortunate to have received the privilege to work with such a diverse and interesting group of gentlemen. It has certainly changed any ideas about those with a background of addiction, and I feel as if my life is much richer for having met these men. I challenge everyone to learn more about the life-changing work taking place at the Morehead Inspiration Center."

Angie Elliott, Case Manager for the Healthy Marriage Program, stated: "I wish more people would take the time to stop and visit the Inspiration Center in Morehead. It was a great experience to meet these guys and get to know them. It was an eye-opening experience for me. I now have a better understanding of working with people that struggle with addiction. We are so blessed to have such a wonderful facility this close to home."

Beth Howard, Case Manager, of the Fatherhood Program, said: "Addiction is something that touches almost everyone's lives at some point. I know it has touched mine. However, through my work at the Inspiration Center and in working with these gentlemen, not only was I able to teach and encourage them, but I was able to find some healing and understanding about the ways addiction has touched my family and my life. I am so full of gratitude for the Inspiration Center. My life is richer for having worked there."

Gateway Community Action provides these and many other services to the public and organizations. If interested, or if you have questions, contact them at 606-743-3133.

Frankie Spencer, Administrator, Liaison/Community Educator for Morehead Inspiration Center, extends an invitation to anyone to stop by for a tour and participate in Community. See what our program does for individuals with addiction and how it can change lives. Call 606-783-0404 and ask for Frankie Spencer.

Kids often consider that Dad knows little and understands even less. Young adults, however, begin to admire Dad's wisdom and marvel at his intelligence. It's clear that in most cases, Dad didn't change at all. It was the son or daughter who learned in those few years...Dad knows best.

So it is with our Father in Heaven. Many of us attended worship and bible classes as children. Perhaps in our late teens some of us unfortunately veered away. This Father's Day as we honor our earthly Dads, let us rededicate our lives to our Heavenly Father as we worship Him. Remember that He is wise even when we are not, and be thankful.

DAD KNOWS BEST

Caney Valley News

By Tracey B. Hatton
June 11--Hello again from Caney Valley. Happy Father's Day to all men who have served in the capacity of being a dad. In Joshua 24:15, "And if it seem evil unto you to serve the Lord, choose you this day whom ye will serve; whether the gods which your fathers served that were on the other side of the flood, or the gods of the Amorites, in land ye dwell: but as for me and my house, we will serve the Lord."
There is a movie out called "Courageous." I am sure many of you have seen this movie. Boone and I watched the movie again this past Sunday. I gleaned some strong and powerful points that as a father or even a man who has influence over young people to stand up. The question in the movie asked "where are you men of courage?" "Who will guide my family?" "Who will teach my son or daughter to follow Christ?" "Who will pray for my family?" The resounding answer was "I will". Any good man wants the blessing of God on their home. We have to live in this world, but don't throw your life into your job or hobbies but be concerned about the eternal souls of your children. There were comments made in this wonderful Christian family based movie that should hit the heart of every man, as the father, he is the head of the household. As the head of the household, that man should have a strong relationship with God and Christ being the center of his life, and leading his family in the way of Christ. Joshua's name means "The Lord is Salvation". Joshua had that relationship with God as a son has with a father. That was why it was important for Joshua to make the bold statement of "as for me and my house we will serve the Lord."
Happy birthdays: Carley Dye, Troy Flannery.
Happy anniversary: Bobby and Becky Roseberry, Kim and Gary Cole.
Prayer List: Coleman Howard, Lester "Peanut" Benton, Bobby Roseberry, McKenna Conley, Hattie Lois Benton's family, Phillip Benton, Candy McIntosh, Bro. Hobert Dunn, Glenn Crase, Bridgett Craft, Sue Perkins, Harold and Joanie Barker, Lanny Faulkner, Berchlene and Woodford Henry, Joretta Oney.

Nicholas, and Shelby Bolin. Dan and Joyce LeMaster and Nicholas Blackburn were shopping in Morehead last week. Jewell Young, Tanner Mabry, Athena and Nicholas Blackburn and Joyce LeMaster ate dinner at K.F.C. in Morehead Saturday.
Bob and Dell Marie Harper, Darrell and Evelyn Williams, Hershall and Anita Williams, and Leova Lewis had dinner at the Lemon Tree recently. Bob and Dell Marie Harper visited recently with Mr. and Mrs. Garrett Williams, of Waynesville, Ohio. They also attended a graduation. Bob and Dell Marie visited with family and friends last week in Louisville, Ky.

Lower Elkfork

By Alpha Clevenger
May 28--Sympathy is extended to my dear sister, Bertha Gibson, who passed away May 4th in New Albany, Indiana. She first was in the hospital there and then placed in a rest home where she remained till her passing. She will be sadly missed by all her family and friends. May God bless and comfort them in their loss. She was a wonderful wife, mother, grandmother, and great grandmother. She was loved by all that knew her. Sympathy to all others who are bereaved, and get well wishes to the sick and shutins.
Barry and Thelma took me to Morehead last Monday to see Dr. Proudfoot for the spot on my arm. It had been six weeks since my last visit. Thank God I got a good report and don't have to go back again, but I have an appointment with Dr. Fossett on May 31st for surgery on my hands. I hope everything goes well for me.
Alpha was Thursday supper guest of Barry and Thelma and enjoyed the delicious meal Barry prepared. He's a real chef and everything tasted so good because someone else did the cooking and I didn't have to. Thanks Barry and they also asked me to come and eat supper on Saturday with them as that was her birthday.
I received a card from my sister, Chris, on Wednesday and the obituary card of my sister, Bertha's funeral. Thank you, sister. I love you.
I have been so busy lately doing some work in the garden along with all the other work and taking walks. It seems there's not enough hours in the day to get everything done. Well, I can't get everything done, just the important things, I guess. When I was younger I'd get up real early and have all the chores done by seven or eight o'clock in the morning, but I surely can't do all of that anymore, but so thankful to do what I can, and still can walk.
I enjoy Sandra Conway's column each week. She does a great job. Keep up the good work.
We listen to Rev. Vernon Lewis every Sunday on the radio station W.L.K.S., West Liberty, at 1 p.m. You sure preach the gospel truth that's what it takes in these days we live in and all the others that's on the radio station every Sunday working for the Lord. Helen Lewis and singers that is on the radio station at 12 and 12:30 each Sunday. Keep up the good work.
I watch Jimmy Swaggart every night on television. He surely does a great job preaching along with his son, Donnie Swaggart, and all the singers along with them. They all do a great job.
I talked to Irene Dunn recently. She is a nice and sweet lady. Good to talk to her.
I went out in the garden today and picked a mess of lettuce and onions, and had them for supper. That was my first mess of lettuce but I have had green onions for a while. I love all of Bobby Roseberry tolerated his shoulder surgery well and is now home recovering. McKenna Conley had her appendix removed and is home recovering and doing well.

We had church at Brushy this past Sunday and had a wonderful service. An Alabama youth choir performed at Faith Baptist Church on June 4th. Bro. Mick Hardin was saying it was a wonderful service.

Nicholas, and Shelby Bolin. Dan and Joyce LeMaster and Nicholas Blackburn were shopping in Morehead last week. Jewell Young, Tanner Mabry, Athena and Nicholas Blackburn and Joyce LeMaster ate dinner at K.F.C. in Morehead Saturday.
Bob and Dell Marie Harper, Darrell and Evelyn Williams, Hershall and Anita Williams, and Leova Lewis had dinner at the Lemon Tree recently. Bob and Dell Marie Harper visited recently with Mr. and Mrs. Garrett Williams, of Waynesville, Ohio. They also attended a graduation. Bob and Dell Marie visited with family and friends last week in Louisville, Ky.

that good country eating. Can't beat that. Barry and me planted potatoes in April and he hoed them once or twice and now they have grown so big and we planted them where nothing had been planted for a couple of years longer and they sure are pretty and so dark colored. Barry plowed them with his tiller. He loves to get out and work in the garden.
Irene Dunn called on Tuesday. Good to hear from her again. She said she didn't know that I was in town and went through after the tornado swept through West Liberty on March 2. She had read my column in the newspaper about me trying to get back home after the tornado. I was at Save A Lot when it passed through so thankful to the good Lord I made it back home safe.
Barry and Thelma came Saturday evening and worked on my vehicle. I had tried to start it and it never would start. So they came and got it started for me. I was thinking my battery was dead, but evidently it wasn't. Glad that.
Everyone pray for rain. It's really getting dry, but the weather forecast is giving rain. Sunday night and Monday I surely do hope so. It is needed at the present time.
My sister, Enone, of Elliott County, called recently. Good to hear from her. She and Ed were very well. Call again sister.
Dempsey sustained pelvic injuries recently while working on his home. We all hate that happened to him. His home was damaged when the tornado swept through West Liberty. Rosie took him to Morehead Thursday to see a doctor and had x-rays made. He had broken pelvic in two places or more and can't do any kind of work for six weeks or more. I went to visit him recently. He's not able now to finish repair on his home. I worry and pray for his recovery every day. God bless him and touch and heal him. Every Christian pray for him.
Sympathy is extended to the family of Sandra Carpenter's son who passed away recently. May God bless and comfort them in their loss. I know how it feels to give up a precious son. Its so heartbreaking. Something we can't ever forget. But life goes on. But only God can get us through it all and give us strength and courage to carry on without them. He's the best friend we ever had. He never leaves us nor forsakes us in times of trouble.
Irene Dunn called Tuesday. Good to hear from her. She's a nice lady.
Alpha has an appointment at Morehead Clinic on Monday.
I have been working in my flowers for a few days. I found some old lumber out under a window and I pulled the lumber up and I said to myself there's some rich potting soil, so I got some buckets and filled them. I'm so glad I didn't have to carry the soil along way. I was so glad and thankful for the rich soil.
I came down to Old Mill Park Sunday evening. They were having singing, food and drinks and playing ball in the park for the children.

just a counterpart to a mother. It is the tenderness of his touch, the love seen in his eyes. It is the leadership of the home and the love that he has for his family. As Father's Day is recognized this Sunday, may each one have a wonderful and honoring day and more importantly be the leader of your home and take your family to church. Fathers take time to listen to your heavenly Father. It will change your life forever.
May God bless and keep you.

Little League Baseball, Girls Softball

Morgan County Little League is happy to report that Girls Softball has gotten started with enough girls to fill two teams. The games have been played at the softball field located at Liberty Road and have scheduled future games have been scheduled at the Little League Field in town. Game one was played on May 30 as the Twisted Sisters hosted the Diamonds. Leading the Diamonds were Kiera Lewis and Lyndsey Adkins, who combined for two runs on two hits, Lyndsey Lawson tied the game in the fifth and Emily Wilson scored in the bottom of the sixth for her second run of the game as the Twisted Sisters won 3-2.

Game two would end in a 3-3 tie as Maggie Keeton, Lyndsey Shuck and Carissa Fletcher scored for the Diamonds. The offense for the Twisted Sisters came from Macey Jones, Madison Price, and Abby Ross. The bats heated up in game three as the Twisted Sisters outlasted the Diamonds 12-11. Every player for the Diamonds scored, led by Lindsey Shuck and Elise Roy as they each crossed home plate twice. The Twisted Sisters were led by Emily Wilson, Lindsey Lawson, and Jenna Frederick as they scored two runs each in the victory. Game four had Madison Price and Savannah Hamilton pitching for the Twisted Sisters and Maggie Keeton and Kiera Lewis got the call for the Diamonds. The bats from the Twisted Sisters proved too much as they got the victory 15-3.

Minor League had a busy week as they played three days. The Red Sox beat the Angels 8-6 in game one on Tuesday. Game two had the Braves defeating the Rockies 12-8. On Thursday, the Angels outslugged the Rockies 8-7 for the victory in game one. The bats came alive in game two as the Red Sox defeated the Braves 17-14. The teams came back out to play on Saturday for a make-up game from May 29 and the Rockies beat the Angels 9-6 and the Red Sox got the win over the Braves 12-7. At the end of the week six, the Red Sox are still in first place. Second place belongs to the Braves. The Rockies hold on to third place. The much improved Angels are in fourth place.

T-ball played Tuesday and Thursday as all four teams stay undefeated at the end of week six.

Little League got week six started on Monday, June 4 with the Nationals hosting the Blue Jays. The starting pitchers for each team were eleven-year-olds Bradley Vest for the Blue Jays and Peyton Hampton for the Nationals. The Blue Jays would take an 8-2 lead after five and a half innings, but the Nationals put on their rally caps in the bottom of the sixth as they scored six runs to tie the game at eight-all and force extra innings. The offense for the Nationals came from eleven-year-olds AJ Aragon and Peyton Hampton, who each went 4 for 4 at the plate. Ten-year-old Aiden Morgan did his part for the Nationals, going 2 for 4 with a big double in the bottom of the sixth. The Blue Jays would be too much as they would score three runs in the seventh led by nine-year-old Ethan Hall, eleven-year-olds Nathan Nickell, Dylan Hager, and twelve-year-old Byron Holbrook, as they combined for nine runs on ten hits for the 11-8 win. Game two would have the Reds on the road to play the Indians. The Reds sent 12-year-old Michael Prater to the mound and Jordan Howell got the call for the Indians. Cameron Bush and Ridge Jones would cross the plate for the only two runs for the Indians. The Reds were led by Lyndsey Adkins batting 3 for 3 in the game. Prater, Blake Evans, and Matt Hylton combined for all six runs on five hits for a 6-2 victory over the Indians.

Little League was back in action with two games on Wednesday. Game one was between the Blue Jays and the Marlins. Eleven-year-olds Tanner Smith for the Marlins and Jonathan Nickell for the Blue Jays got the start on the mound. Offense was not a problem for either team as they combined for 27 runs on 15 hits. The Blue Jays offense was led by ten-year-old Chandler Trusty and twelve-year-old Byron Holbrook, each batting 2 for 4. The Marlins sent eleven batters to the plate in the third inning, scoring eight runs. Eleven-year-olds Dylan Carpenter and Colt Bowman led the Marlins' attack. Carpenter went 1 for 1 with an inside the park home-run as he rounded the bases in a blink of an eye, Bowman did the most damage, going 3 for 3 with a walk, scoring three runs as the Marlins went on to win 16-11.

The most exciting game of the week, maybe of the year, came in game two on Wednesday between the Reds and the Nationals. Ethan Lewis started for the Nationals and the Reds would call on Matt Hylton to pitch. The twelve-year-olds on the Reds: Blake Evans, Michael Prater, and Jase Ross, would make every appearance at the plate count as Prater went 4 for 4 with two singles and two triples. Evans and Ross each went 2 for 4, combining for three runs in the game. The Nationals wouldn't let up as eight out of ten players got hits. The Nationals sent twelve batters to the plate in the fourth inning for six runs and added five more in the bottom of the fifth. The offense was led by Cole Potter, Peyton Hampton and Ethan Lewis as they combined for seven runs on six hits. The Nationals got two big hits in the fourth inning from nine-year-old Allen Dulen and ten-year-old Brandon Hampton, Dulen an RBI single and Hampton a RBI double. Nine-year-old Jarrod Potter would get the biggest hit of the night that broke the heart of the Reds, an RBI triple in the fifth inning as the Nationals held on to win 14-12.

Little league finished up the week on Friday with nine- and ten-year olds pitching. The Indians hosted the Marlins in game one with Casey Potter starting for the Indians and Connor Gilliam getting the call for the visiting Marlins. The Indians would score four runs, led by Jordan Howell and ridge Jones, who each went 2 for 2, combining for two runs. To say the bats for the Marlins were on fire would be an understatement as the team scored 21 runs on 15 hits. Eleven-year-olds Colt Bowman and Dylan Carpenter once again led the Marlins' assault, Bowman batting 4 for 5 with two doubles and two triples. Tre Lykins went 2 for 2, Tanner Smith and nine-year-old Gilliam each batted 2 for 3 as the Marlins went on to win 21-5. Game two on Friday had the Blue Jays hosting the Reds. The Reds started ten-year-old Lyndsey Adkins and the Blue Jays started a ten-year-old as well, Chandler Trusty. The Reds tied the game at four in the top of the fifth, led by twelve-year-old Jase Ross. Ross batted 3 for 3 with three singles in the game. The Blue Jays exploded for six runs in the home half of the fifth, led by Trusty and eleven-year-old Dylan Hager, who each had a multi-hit game. Trusty had a single followed by a triple and Hager had two doubles with two RBIs in the game. The Blue Jays held on to win 10-4 over the Reds.

After a rocky week, the Reds still hold on to first place at 12-4. The Marlins take command of second place with a record of 10-5. The Blue Jays find themselves in third place with a 9-6 record. Fourth place belongs to the Indians at 5-10. The much-improved Nationals are in fifth place with a 2-13 record. Like us on Face Book @ facebook. com/morgancountylittleleague-baseball. May 21, 1976 - June 2, 2012

Life is a journey of sweetness and sorrow, Of yesterday's memories and hopes for tomorrow, Of pathways we choose and detours we face with patience and humor, courage and grace, Of joy that we've shared and of people we've met who have touched us in ways we will never forget.

A special thank-you for each comforting word that was spoken, to each whispered prayer that was sent up, the many friends and family that stood by us in our time of grief, to Lost Point Lake Church for their generosity, donations and food, to Pastor Garry and Joyce Ferguson, who brought forth words of hope and the love of God, to Toms Branch Church for the food they prepared and their concern in our time of need, to Brother Jeff and Lennie Montgomery, the ones who came to the hospital, for each donation that was made, the flowers, gifts, cards of sympathy I will cherish forever.

To Potter's Funeral Home for their diligent care and concern during our time of need.

Special thank you to my mother, Barbara Carpenter; sister, Tamera; brother Kendall and Brenda, uncle, Harold Goodpaster, uncle, Gearld and Nettie Goodpaster, my special, friend, Mary Luke Stacy, and Richard.

To the ones who showed their support by calling and giving words of encouragement, thank you from the bottom of our hearts.

We ask for continued prayers as we go forth with heavy hearts and teary eyes, but with the hope God has promised us that we shall meet again on the shores of Glory. God bless

City workers have been busy

Rejoicing At Red River

Hello from Red River Community Church:
Sunday night our pastor’s son-in-law Josh Huff preached. Boy, did he do a great job!
He preached from Roman’s 12: 1-2. “I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that you present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable to God which is your reasonable service. And do not be conformed to this world, but be transformed by the renewing of your mind that you may prove what is that good and acceptable and perfect will of God.”
We are obligated to shine so that others will see God in us. If we go around glum and sad all the time – angry and quarrelsome, jealous and envious – what kind of picture are we presenting to the public?
They will say, “Hey, I don’t have to claim Christianity to act like that! I thought you were supposed to show love, joy and peace in your soul as a Christian!”

What kind of light do you shine? We all need to ask God to help us be the beacon He wants us to be.
For our Sunday evening service on June 17 we will showing the movie “Grace Card” in honor of Father’s Day. This movie illustrates the everyday opportunities that people have to rebuild relationships and heal deep wounds by extending and receiving God’s grace. It is free to the public and everyone is welcome to attend. The movie will start at 6 p.m.
Visit us at our web site redrivercommunitychurch.org.
Sunday School – 10:00 am (fellowship and snacks at 9:30).
Sunday worship service – 10:45 a.m.
Sunday evening service – 6 p.m.
Bible Study – 7 p.m.
Thursday. Youth meeting – 6 p.m.
Wednesday. Everyone is welcome!

Personals

By Anna Jean Allen
Mrs. Anita Hunley and her daughter, Nancy Chase, of Lexington, had friends in for lunch after church Sunday, June 4, at the home of Mrs. Hunley. Luncheon guests were Terri Smith Walter and her mother, Rose May, of Pikeville, Dr. Mary Oldfield, daughter of the late Ogden and Isabelle Caskey Oldfield, from Berea, and Barbara Ison, of West Liberty, cousin of Mary. After lunch, Nancy, Mary, and Terri, former Morgan County High School classmates, enjoyed looking at their graduation yearbook and other school photos that Mrs. Hunley had kept for her daughter.
Of interest also, was hearing about Nancy’s trip to Paris, France, last month. She, and husband, Greg Chase, spent eight days sightseeing in and around Paris. It was late afternoon when everyone departed and a very enjoyable time for all.
Mrs. Margaret Reed, former Riverside Drive Apartment resident, who has been staying with her brother, Sonny and Wanda Adkins, in Frankfort, the past three months, was in West Liberty visiting for a few days last week. She stayed with Anna Ruth Roach and her daughter, Stephanie, and Anita Hunley. She also visited her friends at the apartments, those at White Oak, and other life long friends.
Guests of Mrs. Anita Hunley Memorial Day weekend were her granddaughter, Katie and Kevin Willis, and her grandson, Scott Hunley, all from Atlanta, and her daughter, Nancy and Greg Chase, of Lexington.

CREATE IN ME A CLEAN HEART

Create in me a clean heart, oh God, and renew a right spirit within me. Cast me not away from thy presence and take not thy Holy Spirit from me, Restore unto me the joy of thy salvation and uphold me with thy free spirit.

Romans 6:23 For the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord. What will your eternal pay day be; a gift that you have received or the wages of things done in this life?
The message this week came from Matthew 20:1-16, where Jesus tells us the parable of the laborers in the vineyard. Preachers love this parable because it can be use in many different ways in sharing a message.
It first states the householder hired some laborers at the start of the day and they agreed to work for a penny a day. The householder, then wanting some more laborers, went the third hour and hired them and told them he would give them whatsoever is right when he paid them. This was done the sixth, ninth, and 11th hours, and he hired some each time.
If we could save the world, we would do it all at once however the Lord works on His timetable and deals with each of us at different times in our life. Some are saved at a young age while others when they get older and some even on their death bed. Has the Lord dealt with you about working for Him?
We all work for a pay day and there will come a time for an eternal pay day. In the parable he paid the last first and gave them a penny each. So when the laborers that was hired first saw that, they thought they would receive more but just received a penny just as they agreed upon.

Now in today's world if that happen to us we might have the same reaction as these had and murmur against the one who hired us. But applying this parable spiritually we don't have an argument at all today.
Jesus has promised us a home in heaven as our pay day for working for him. When I compare myself with the disciples, the apostle Paul, or the early Christians and what they endured for the cause of Christ, should Jesus give to me what He gives to them? Jesus said to lay up treasures in heaven and I do think there might be different rewards but making heaven my eternal home is what we are seeking for.
Paul said it was like running a race. There was a story this week about a marathon runner in Ohio named Meghan Vogel from West Liberty-Salem, Ohio. She ran in the 1600 meter race and won and then entered in the 3200 meter race. She was running last and came upon Arden McMath, a competitor, who was having trouble. Arden had fell a few times and was struggling to make it to the finish line. Meghan picked her up and just

YOU NEVER REALLY LIVED

You may own many mansions, much silver and much gold, you may have success in life and feel you've reached your goal. All of this can't save or satisfy your soul, unless you have salvation, you've really missed the goal. Get acquainted with Jesus, everything seems new. Things that you once hated are the things you'll want to do. You'll go to church on Sunday, attend prayer meetings, too. You'll learn to love your neighbors, and all your enemies, too.

Bailey family of Kellacey traces back to Native Americans

By Dale Bailey

Words can't describe how much I owe my dad, Vernon Edward Bailey, for all he taught me about life.

He was a son of the late Herbert and Thelma Brewer Bailey, who lived at Kellacey.

There's a lot of people that don't know about dad and his family. They had a lot of Indian in them. Dad was a quarter white. His dad, Herbert's mother, Eliza Nickell, was a full stock Cherokee Indian. There was also Indian on the Bailey side.

Dad's mom, Thelma Brewer Bailey, had Indian blood that came through her side of the family three ways. Her mom, Mary Alice Oldfield Nickell, was a Cheyenne. Her dad, Milard Brewer, was half Crow and half Cherokee.

Dad taught me about my ancestry and where I was, and of the old way. When I was a young boy he used to take me to the auction house at Post Town, Ohio, that Denzil Goodpaster's daughter and son-in-law used to run. I learned about antiques and their value there. He also took me to Shonney's Flea Market, in Carlisle, Ohio. Here he taught me how to buy and sell, and trade knives and the value of them. I have been trading knives since I was ten years old. Shonney's used to have a gun auction every Saturday night and dad used to take me to it. Here I learned the value of guns, how to buy and sell and trade them. I have been gun trading since I was 12 year old.

Vernon Edward Bailey
July 4, 1926 - August 3, 1974

Dad also had rental property at Carlisle, Ohio. He taught me the value of real estate and rental property, and what it's like to have lently and what it's like to have nothing, and how to live off the land and still make it.

I also learn the value of the gold and silver market by going to auction houses with him. He also taught one about stocks and bonds by going to banks and loan companies.

I learned through dad about horses, hunting, fishing. Most of all about coon hunting, coon dogs, and foxhounds.

It it wasn't for my dad, Vernon, I wouldn't know nothing about the value of anything or nothing about life. Most people that have children don't try to show or teach them anything about life. They let them learn on their own.

I thank God for my dad for taking time to show me the value of things and teaching me everything that he did.

Socially-disadvantaged farmers as voting members of Co. Committees

WASHINGTON, June 4, 2012—Agriculture Secretary Tom Vilsack announced today that he intends to appoint voting members from socially disadvantaged (SDA) communities to serve on county committees in county jurisdictions that lack fair SDA representation. USDA’s Farm Service Agency (FSA), which works collaboratively with county committees, published an interim rule today in the Federal Register that is open for public comment for 60 days.
County committees have served as a direct link between the farm community and USDA for more than 75 years, helping to deliver FSA farm programs at the local level. Eligible farmers serving on committees provide feedback to USDA on the types of FSA agricultural programs that best serve the needs of local producers.
“As we continue to build a USDA that is responsive to the needs of an evolving, 21st century agricultural economy, we must ensure a strong and sustainable future for these important committees,” said Vilsack. “Appointing new voting members to committees that lack representation will help ensure that county committees continue to play a vital and relevant role in delivering important federal farm programs to citizens of rural communities across our nation.”
County committees were formed in the 1930s to oversee federal farm programs, a tool for grassroots engagement whereby locally elected committees give farmers effective self-government authority. That authority continues today, making farmers primary stewards of farm programs passed by Congress, including administration and outreach to all farmers and ranchers in their area.

Secretarial appointments would add SDA voting members to county jurisdictional areas where representation is lacking, according to a statistical review conducted by USDA. The appointments will supplement the existing election process where currently there are 7,700 elected county committee members representing 2,244 county jurisdictions.
“We are proud of the great diversity that makes up our rural communities,” said FSA Administrator Bruce Nelson, “and appointing voting members to committees that lack representation is an important step in helping to maintain a robust county committee system for all producers.”
Authority to appoint voting SDA members was granted in the 2002 Farm Bill passed by Congress. The interim rule allows the Secretary of Agriculture to ensure fair representation on county committees by appointing a voting member in areas identified under-representing the diversity of area producers. Each year, USDA will conduct a fresh statistical analysis, and appointments with voting authority will continue to occur in areas identified under-representing the diversity of area producers.

Extension Notes: Kentucky cabbage info and recipe

Cabbage is versatile, flavorful, a good value and good for you. It is one of the oldest vegetables. It is easy to grow, tolerates the cold and keeps well. The many varieties come in different shapes and sizes with curly or plain leaves, in a range of whites, reds, purples and greens. There are at least a hundred different types of cabbage grown throughout the world, but the most common types in the United States are the green, red and Savoy varieties.

This is a low calorie vegetable with only 15 calories per half cup serving. Cabbage contains vitamin C, fiber, folate, calcium and iron. Cabbage is also an excellent source of vitamin K, which prevents blood clotting disorders and may reduce the risk of osteoporosis. Cabbage also contains phytochemicals that may help prevent some forms of cancer.

In Kentucky, green cabbage is the most widely grown. It is available from June through July and again from September through November.

Choose cabbages that are firm and heavy for their size with crisp leaves and no sign of browning. Wrap cabbages in plastic and refrigerate for up to 2 weeks. Do now wash cabbage until you are ready to use it. Avoid slicing or shredding in advance, this will cause the cabbage to lose some of its vitamin C content. Discard outer leaves and core before using.

Cabbage grown in cool temperatures and will withstand temperatures down to 20 degrees F. To plant in your garden, start with transplants or start your own in growing structures 4 to 6 weeks before the planting date. A few seeds can be sown in the cold frame or garden every month up to July 15 to have cabbage plants through the season. Plants take about 3 weeks from seeding to setting during the summer months.

Cabbage can be steamed, boiled, braised, microwaved, stuffed or stir-fried. It is also great served raw in salads.

Try this delicious warm cabbage side dish that is quick and easy to prepare.

Cabbage Noodle Casserole
5 strips turkey bacon
1 tablespoon vegetable oil
2 teaspoons sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
6 cups cabbage, chopped into 1 inch pieces
3 cups whole grain egg noodles, cooked
1 cup reduced-fat sour cream
1 teaspoon paprika

Directions: In a large skillet, cook bacon until crisp. Remove and set aside. Add oil, sugar, salt and pepper to the skillet with the bacon drippings. Add chopped cabbage and stir until coated. Cover and cook 7-10 minutes.

Crumble bacon and add to cabbage. Stir in noodles.

Spoon into a greased 2-quart casserole dish; cover and bake at 325° F for 30 minutes. Remove from oven. Spread sour cream over the top and sprinkle with paprika. Bake 5 minutes.

Coal's share of elec. generation keeps dropping

You can blame or credit the warmest March on record in a lot of the country, and historically low natural gas prices driven down by supply from hydraulic fracturing, for a while of a drop in coal's share of U.S. electric generation in March.

Coal's share of net generation dropped to 34 percent, the lowest since at least January 1973, when the U.S. Energy Information Administration started keeping monthly statistics. Its report this week notes that "despite seasonally low loads, natural gas-fired generation grew markedly and accounted for 30 percent of overall net generation by March 2012. Total electricity demand fell this winter as warmer weather reduced home heating requirements."

Coal generation decreased 29 billion kilowatt hours from March 2011 to March 2012, while natural gas generation increased 27 billion kwh during the same time period, accounting for 30 percent of generation. Gas prices were near 10-year lows this winter, leading coal-burning utilities in states such as Ohio and Pennsylvania to increase their use of natural gas-fired plants. "Newer gas units operate at higher efficiency than older, fossil-fired units, which increases the competitiveness of natural gas relative to coal," EIA reported.
